Girls' Club Plans For Achievement Day

LAC LA BICHE — A regular meeting of the Senior Girls' Club was held at the home of Miss Beulah Quast, the supervisor, last Tuesday evening. Mrs. Hall, a supervisor of the Girls' Club, also attended and all members except one were present.

In adition to the regular sewing, the girls made plans for Achievement Day to be held near the end of May. They decided to write a skit on a sewing meeting, give a demonstration of a manicure and do a musical number.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at the home of Mrs. F. Lewis on Monday, April 28.

LAC LA BICHE—A birthday party originally planned for Monday evening, but postponed because of his father's health, was held at Mrs. Bouvier's home on Tuesday evening of last week for Joe Bouvier on his nineteenth birthday.

HUNTER BRODDY, volunteer fire chief from Calmar, Alberta, receives 'God's speed' wishes from H. G. Harper, vice-president of Goodyear Canada, before starting on a 2,500 mile trip from Toronto to the Albertan municipality. Ed Turner, Goodyear fire chief, gazes into space and dreams of riding the range in a shiny red fire truck.

District Man Drives Fire Truck 2,500 Miles From Eastern Canada

This week motorists on Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta highways will blink in amazement as they are passed by a rushing fire engine hot-footing it to Calmar, Alberta.

Hunter Broddy, volunteer fire chief of Calmar, and a local Goodyear dealer, is delivering a new fire engine via the overland route 2,500 miles from Toronto. He left the Queen City on Monday, and hopes to be home by the week-end.

The fast growing town of Calmar, thirty miles south-east of Edmonton, and in the centre of the Leduc oil field, commissioned Mr. Broddy to come to Toronto and buy the truck. He flew East early in April and carried out his commission by buying a three-ton 500-gallon La France fire-engine. He has been staying in Toronto with his aunt, Mrs. G. C. Britton, 30 Chaplin Cres., Toronto.

During his stay in Toronto he has been doing a lot of sightseeing and took the opportunity to visit several large industrial companies including the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company at New Toronto. He spent Easter in Arlington, Virgina, and on his way back to Calmar hopes to visit some of the sights in southern Ontario, including Niagara Falls.

Mr. Broddy feels that having this new truck is going to make a great difference in fighting fires in Calmar. "Up to now we have been using 40-gallon foamite extinguishers; but six months ago fire hydrants were installed, and we'll be able to use them."

D.A. Appointed To Lac la Biche

LAC LA BICHE—District Agriculturist Peter Maron has been appointed to Lac la Biche, where he intends to make him home. Mr. Maron is a veteran of the last war and took advantage of the veterans' training plan to attend the University of Alberta, where he received his B.Sc. in Agriculture. Before his appointment, he was employed by Field Crops Branch in Edmonton. At present his wife and two children are still in Edmonton, hoping to move to Lac la Biche after the school term.

The D.A.'s office was opened on the 16th of April. In the few days before seeding, the D.A. is urging the farmers to use only clean, treated seed for planting. Services rendered in this district will be largely dependent on the interest shown by those who are concerned with agriculture. Any local agricultural interests which were formerly taken care of elsewhere can now be resumed by the D.A. office in Lac la Biche.

Correction

LAC LA BICHE—At the regular monthly W. I. meeting it was decided to hold a dance after Easter. The date has not been decided upon.

The W. I. did not canvass for the Red Cross on two tag days, Friday and Saturday, as was reported. It had been decided that, if the objective was not reached the W.I. would hold a bake sale, but it was found unnecessary, as the objective was reached.

MASTER FARM FAMILY PROGRAM

LAC LA BICHE—The Master Farm Family programme will be carried on this year under the same rules and regulations and score card as in 1951. It is, however, the hope of the Department of Agriculture that there be a few more nominations than in 1951. To do so, at is necessary to give the programme every possible publicity by all organizations who might be interested in insuring that a farmer would be nominated.

The closing date for nominations is June 1st. This is a relatively short time before the closing day considering the amount of work required to conduct a programme, so prompt action is necessary.

You can study the outline of this programme at the office of your local District Agriculturist. It is suggested that persons familiarize themselves with this outline before completing a nomination. Copies of this programme can be obtained on request. Your cooperation in the matter will be greatly appreciated.

LAC LA BICHE — With the roads in the Lac la Biche, Wandering River and Boyle districts fast drying up, A. C. McElwain, subscription representative for Community Publications, plans on making another canvass of the area for new and renewal subscriptions to the Boyle Beacon and Lac La Biche Herald.

Due largely to his efforts, the subscription lists of these papers are now at their highest points, and hundreds of district residents are known to Mr. McElwain personally.

Her attendants, Mrs. Ellen Hutchinson, of Imperial Mills, and Miss Donna Dunlop, of Kinistino, wore blue nylon brocade and net, pink lace and net gowns repectively. The bride carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses while her attendants carried pink and white, and blue and white carnations respectively. Following the double-ring ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Dodds, parents of the bride, after which a dance was held at the Kinistino Community Hall. J. D. Champion Guest Speaker

J. D. Champion, timber inspector for the Athabasca district, was the guest speaker at a recent meeting of the Boyle Home and School.

Mr. Champion emphasized the need for conserving our natural resources today for tomorrow. He stated the need for the present generation to think of the heritage that will be passed on to the succeeding generation. "Will the soil," he asked, "which supports our present generation, be capable of continuing to do so during the succeeding generations?"

During the afternoon of the same day, Mr. Champion addressed the grade nine and ten students of the Warren School on the topic of conservation. His talk was well received by the members of the junior high school in view of the fact that the current topic in science is, "Conservation."

Mr. J. Benedetto presided at the meeting of the Home and School and extended thanks to Mr. Champion for his thought provoking topic.

New Folding Doors Added Feature

LAC LA BICHE—Students of the Dr. Swift School returned after the Easter holidays to find folding doors had been made between the Grade IX and the Grade X-XI rooms during the holidays.

At large meetings it is now possible to fold back the doors, thus obtaining almost twice as much space to accommodate a crowd.

Planting Trees

Over two million trees from the nursery stations at Indian Head, Brooks and Oliver will arrive for planting on Alberta farms this spring. How many will be alive next year, or five years from now, depends on the care and attention they receive.

The first step towards success is proper planting. If you are too busy to plant all the trees when they arrive, don't rush them in and forget about them, advises P. D. McCalla, Supervisor of Horticulture. Plant what you can, and heel in the remainder in a sheltered spot on the north side of a building or in a well-protected garden enclosure. Heeled in, the trees will remain unharmed for several days, which will allow an opportunity for planting a few at a time, when the day's work is done. In any event, the cool of the evening is the best time to plant trees.

All that is involved in heeling in, is to plough a furow four to six inches deep, space the roots along the furrow, replace the furow slice, and pack the soil around the roots.

For permanent planting keep in mind the following: Dig a hole large enough to accomodate the roots without crowding; plant the tree a little deeper than originally planted; use good moist soil against the roots (not dry topsoil). tramp and pack the soil before leaving. Although not always necessary, a pail or two of water around the roots of each tree immediately after planting will do much to ensure success.

Poplar and willow are shipped as cuttings. The planting operation here is quite simple.

Dig with a shovel at an angle of 45 degrees. Push the handle forward, insert the cutting in the space behind the shovel, remove the shovel and tramp on the soil to pack. When planting, make sure that one leaf of the cutting is above ground, and water if possible.

BLUE JAY NEWS

The residents of Blue Jay spent a relatively quiet Easter week, if celebrating two Easters within ten days time isn't taken into consideration. Two Easters are celebrated because the Roman Catholics celebrate Easter on April 13, and the Greek Orthodox celebrate the holiday on April 20. Both groups maintain that they keep Easter on the correct date.

The following visited parents and friends during the Easter week: Miss Kay Gregus, Miss Ann Blonsky, Miss Princinia Klimiuk, Mr. John Klimiuk, and Mr. Mike Propachuk. Quite a number of people also visited Edmonton during this Easter week. These included Mr. Mike Ilnicki with his smaller school van.

A number of people were surprised last Sunday, when they saw what appeared to be two young ladies with short skirts strolling down the road. It was after learned that these two young ladies with short skirts were none other than Mr. Harry Propachuk and Mr. Joe Petrosky, rigged up in ladies' clothes. Bet those short skirts were prety cool, weren't they, boys?

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Taller

Finding she tired quickly, a woman decided to weigh herself. As she stepped off the scales her husband eyed her appraisingly and asked: "Well, what's the verdict? a little over-weight?"

"Oh, no," said his wife, "but according to that height table on the scales I should be almost six inches taller!"

Point of View

Whenever it is said that a woman is making a fool of some man, we are always reminded of the incident in which a mother told her young son to stop pulling the cat's tail. "I'm not pulling it, Mama," he said, "I'm just holding it—he's pulling it."

Help!

An old maid was aroused one night to find a man under her bed. She neither fainted or screamed. Instead, she said, "Sit down, sir, I want to talk to you."

An hour later, there came a frantic ring over the telephone at police headquarters. "There's a burglar in Miss Spinister's bedroom. Send the police at once."

"All right," answered the sergeant. "Is this Miss Spinister speaking?"

"No," came the anguished voice, "this is the burglar."

Beneficiary

The stranger breezed in with a big smile: "Good morning, doctor. I just dropped in to tell you how much I benefited from your treatment."

Doctor: "But you're not one of my patients."

Stranger: "I know. But my uncle was and I'm his heir."

"That woman next door went and got a hat exactly like mine."

"Did you make a fuss about it?"

"No; I gave mine to the cook."

He Sure Will

Justwed: "My wife likes coffee for breakfast while I like tea."

Longwed: "You'll soon get used to coffee."

Argument Stopper

Two opposing political candidates argued on a busy street, while a crowd of spectators listened.

"There are hundreds of ways of making money," one of the campaigners declared, "but only one honest one."

"And what's that?" jeered the other.

"Ah, ha!" rejoined the first, "I thought you wouldn't know!"

One Way To Use It

A young couple sent a friend of theirs (an Australian woman living in this country) a playpen upon the arrival of her fourth child. Her "thank you" note left them somewhat astonished. "The pen is a perfect godsend," she wrote. "I sit in it every afternoon to read—and the children can't get near me."

Defence of Alberta To Be Augmented By Ground Observers

The Alberta Provincial Civil Defence is prepared to co-operate fully with the Ground Observer Corps when it begins operations, Air Vice Marshal G. R. Howsam, provincial co-ordinator, announced following a series of discussions with the officers of the Corps.

A branch of the Air Defence Command of the RCAF, the Ground Observer Corps is in the process of organizing here in the province. It is often referred to as the "eyes and ears of the Air Force" and played an important role in Great Britain in the last war. The purpose of the corps is to supplement the radar warning system of the RCAF and thousands of volunteers throughout all parts of the province are soon to be recruited.

Flying Officer F. M. Hewett, RCAF, veteran of the last war, has been appointed commanding officer of the Alberta Detachment of the GOC. He is presently occupying temporary offices at the RCAF Tactical Air Group Headquarters, Edmonton. Two filter centres, one at Calgary and other at Edmonton, have been slated.

The operations of the corps are simple. Civilian volunteer "spotters" stationed about the country will report everything mechanical in the skies to a filter centre. While the primary duty of the "spotters" is to report hostile aircraft, they will also report everything of value, such as aircraft in difficulties. At the filter centres all incoming reports will be plotted on special table maps and the information passed on to the RCAF.

"While the Ground Observers Corps will be under the complete control of the RCAF, we will co-operate fully. It is hoped that all members of Civil Defence Organizations will give every assistance to the observer corps," Air Vice Marshal Howsam stated.

The other day my five-year-old boy went to the barn to watch me milk. After a thoughtful silence, during which he apparently was meditating over an expression he had heard recently, he came out with, "Daddy, what would a cow do if you told it to 'hold it's horses' ?"

Domestic Price Of Wheat

Farm organizations in western Canada are strongly of the opinion that the domestic price of wheat should not be kept on the same level as prices for wheat under the International Wheat Agreement, as is the case at the present time.

These organizations are of the opinion that the domestic price should have some relationship to the general price level in Canada.

Canadian people earn about twice as much as do the British people. It seems reasonable, therefore, that they should pay more money for their wheat than do the impoverished British.

Results With Liquid Fertilizers

Liquid fertilizers designed for application to the seed have been on the market in western Canada in recent years. An experiment was conducted at the Experimental Sub-Station at Regina in 1951 comparing the liquid fertilized seed treatment with the commonly used ammonium phosphate fertlizer, 11-48-0. Also included in this test was a dust type of fertilizer designed for application to the seed.

The 11-48-0 was drilled into the soil with the seed at the rate of 35 pounds of fertilizer per acre. One set of plots received both the liquid seed treatment and the ammonium phospate fertilizer, and one set of plots received no fertilizer. These treatments were repeated six times on randomized plots of wheat, oats, barley, and flax, says Superintendent J. Roe Foster.

With wheat, the liquid fertilizer gave an average increase of 0.7 bushels per acre. The dust treatment increased yields by 1.0 bushels per acre. The ammonium phosphate increased yields by 3.4 bushels, and a combination of the liquid fertilizer and the ammonium phosphate increased yields by 4.4 bushels per acre. The small increases associated with the liquid fertilizer are within the expected experimental error and could be chance increases.

Similarly with oats and barley the fertilizers applied as a seed treatment gave only small increases in yield compared with ammonium phosphate. Flax yields were not increased by any of the treatments in this test.

Ammonium phosphate fertilizer applied at from 35 to 45 pounds per acre has given profitable increases in yields when sown on summerfallowed land at Regina. The use of this fertilizer on stubble land has not increased yields, and it is therefore not recommended for stubble crops.

Liquid fertilizers are not recommended for seed treatment on either summerfallow or stubble.

British Farm Production

British farmers are now producing 50% more food than they did in 1938. The yields of wheat and many other crops are more than double those of North America. In fact they are greater than in any other nation in the world except Denmark.

About 7% of Britain's working population is employed in agriculture and 92% in industry, yet that 7% is producing enough food to supply the British with 50% of their requirements.

At the same time British farmers with only 30,000,000 acres cannot feed 50,000,000 people.

They are doing their best, however, and use sound farm practices and efficient methods to insure high production. British farms are highly mechanized, with 12 tractors to each 1,000 acres of farm land.

Note and Comment

There are two classes of demagogues: One consciously and selfishly misleads people with personal interests in mind; the other sincerely — out of ignorance.

British Turn To Kuwait

The small sheikdom of Kuwait, located on the northern end of the Persian Gulf, is rapidly becoming the main source of Great Britain's oil in the Middle East. This small corner of the Arabian desert—about the size of Prince Edward Island — is expected to average a daily production rate of 800,000 barrels of oil this year.

If this production goal is achieved, it will represent at least a seventy per cent gain over last year's production. Operations in this small sheikdom went into high gear in 1951 when Iran seized vast British oil properties in that country.

The flow of oil from Kuwait has produced a tremendous income for Sheik Abdullah al Salem al Sabah, who is now one of the world's richest men. His income, from fifty per cent of the net profits, is expected to reach almost $200,000,000 this year.

With this money, Sheik Abdullah is spending millions on schools, hospitals, utilities and other improvements for his 150,000 subjects. It is likely that these 150,000 inhabitants will soon possess a standard of living which would not have been possible in a hundred years without the sudden need for oil among Western democracies.

Lions Don't Know the Difference

(From the Calgary Albertan)

There's no denying that Christendom has its back to the wall. It is losing ground. Its influence is waning.

Protestants and Catholics, without surrendering their identity or compromising their distinctiveness, should remember at this time of crisis that both are Christian, and that compared with what they have in common their points of difference are as nothing. They should join hands in mutual defence against the onslaught of materialism, cynicism and despair, and in proclaiming the Christian way.

Instead, we find Cardinal Segura of Spain leading a crusade against a tiny band of Protestants as if they were the very devil himself.

The Spanish government keeps Protestant chapels closed, refuses to permit the building of new chapels, forbids Protestant worship in private homes. It turns a deaf ear to the cries of Protestants being stoned by the mobs.

A slackening in that campaign of persecution was noticed when King George VI died recently. Apparently many Spanish people expressed regret at the passing of this monarch who was also head of a great Protestant church. And the Spanish government, anxious to come to terms with the United States, was said to be considering slight relaxation of the prohibitions against Protestantism.

It was then that the cardinal cracked the whip. It was "heresy," he said, to extend "benevolence" to that little band of people. He warned that any such move would not be tolerated.

Protestantism, too, has its bigots, but we doubt that there are any extremists like Cardinal Segura in such high places. Tolerance toward dissenting faiths is an essential tenet of many Protestant denominations.

In contrast to the stand taken by Cardinal Segura should be placed that of another cardinal, Mindzenty of Hungary. In that sad land Protestants and Catholics stood shoulder to shoulder, were thrown into the same dungeons, tarred with the same lies, tortured with the same instruments that only a fiendish mind could devise. Cardinal Mindzenty wasn't concerned with "benevolence" or lack of it toward Protestantism. He had a greater battle on his hands. He was the symbol of truth and justice and Christian charity, to Catholic and Protestant alike, and the mental crucifixion he endured was an inspiration to Christians around the world.

And so in China. Catholic and Protestant missionaries were not afflicted with intolerance toward each other. How could they be when they were deported equally, maligned together, imprisoned alike, and executed side by side?

Must it be that true brotherhood in Christ can only be imposed from without, can only be found in the face of common persecution? Must Christians be thrown to the lions to appreciate their common identity? Lions, they say, can't tell a Catholic from a Protestant.

The Christian Church in both Spain and Canada, we venture, would be more Christian if it had a dose of what the governments of China and Hungary have been handing out.

The Bible Today:

The light of the eyes rejoiceth the heart: and a good report maketh the bones fat. — Proverbs, 15: 30.

EFFICIENT ANIMAL SCIENTISTS

By H. G. L. Strange

The dread foot and mouth disease has at last struck in Canada for the first time in her history. Canada indeed is almost the only country in the world that has not previously suffered from this trouble.

Canada, however, fortunately possesses a highly efficient group of animal scientists, associated with dominion and provincial governments and our universities, who have followed intently the course of outbreaks in other countries and who know just what to do.

As soon as the disease was diagnosed our scientists went into action, quarantined the area and proceeded to deal with it in a most efficient way. The result unquestionably will be that the outbreak will be stamped out and prevented from spreading to other areas. Naturally for a time our prairie livestock industry will be seriously harmed. The losses, however, will be considerably reduced by the efficiency of our scientists in animal health in preventing the spreading of the disease. It is to be hoped that noting this prompt and scientific action in dealing with the trouble the United States will remove her present prohibition against the importation of Canadian livestock sooner than most people expect. What a great debt we owe to our workers in animal science who have jumped into action so quickly and well!

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

Finland's import requirements for bread grains in the 1951-52 consumption year will be the highest in many years. Normal requirements are estimated at from 200,000 to 220,000 metric tons of wheat, about 120,000 tons of rye and about 30,000 tons of oats. In the 1949-50 crop year imports of wheat and rye were about 175,000 and 22,000 tons respectively, and in the 1950-51 crop year about 210,000 and 120,000 tons.

In Italy the recent flooding of about 250,000 acres in the Po delta and another 150,000 acres in the central Po Valley, in addition to the heavy damage in Calabria, Sicily and Sardinia, represent a setback to Italy's current efforts to increase agricultural production.

SEEDS OF DETERMINATION

More taxes bring higher prices, higher prices bring more taxes. They all mean worse inflation. Economists fear a recession will come out of our leapfrog economy. And how could it be otherwise when it already takes most of what people make just to eat at today's prices? If anyone thinks otherwise, let him take a look at other nations which have gone through the same thing.

FROM ALBERTA TO CALGARY

A newcomer to the neighborhood says to me one day, "How long are you living in Alberta?" I says I'm here since a small boy, and he asks, "Aren't you tired of this place, only bush around?" I said, "No, why, are you?" This neighbor says, "Ya, Heck with Alberta." Then I asked where he was going. He answered, "To Calgary."

EDMONTON STREETS

Here's a litle poem I came across, which reminds me of the efforts of the City of Edmonton to provide paved roads. I'm reminded every time I drive to the City:

They took a little gravel,
And they took a little tar,
With various ingredients
Imported from afar.
They hammered it and rolled it.
And when they went away
They said they had a pavement
That would last for many a day.

But they came with picks and smote it
To lay a water main:
And then they called the workmen
To put it back again.
To run a railway cable
They took it up some more:
And then they put it back again
Just where it was before.

They took it up for conduits
To run the telephone,
And then they put it back again
As hard as any stone.
They took it up for wires
To feed the 'lectric light,
And then they put it back again,
Which was no more than right.

Oh, the pavement's full of furrows,
There are patches everywhere;
You'd like to ride upon it,
But it's seldom that you dare.
It's a very handsome pavement,
A credit to the town;
They're always diggin' of it up
Or puttin' of it down.

PEDESTRIAN'S RIGHTS

Just arrived from Vancouver, where it is safe to walk. I was given to understand that pedestrians in Edmonton have the right-of way. But while crossing 109th Street on the South Side last week I soon found out different. A City of Edmonton car, license number 16-H-10, missed me by inches although he could see me trying to get across a block away and blew his horn with threatening determination. I saved my life by stepping back just in time.

LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa,

I always read with interest your columns in the Lac la Biche Herald, and I hope you will help me, too. My problem is this:

I have a teen age daughter who is sometimes quite a problem. She goes with a boy who is well thought of in the community and seems to be a very good boy. We have nothing to reproach him but the fact that he is always asking our girl to go on trips with him, that would involve staying a couple of days out of town. He even wanted to take her on a three-week trip in the next province, on his holidays. Of course, this time she would have stayed with his parents, but they could not make the trip all the same day. It took two days to go and two days to come back.

We did not let her go on any one of these trips, but she seems to think that we are hard on her and that there is nothing wrong with her going. We think that if he was a real gentleman, he would not ask a decent girl to travel alone with him on such long trips. I know that people would talk very much and her reputation would not be very good around here if we let her go. She has obeyed us so far, but I wish you would publish my letter, at least part of it, and give us your opinion on the subject. She always reads your column and you might do more to make her understand than we can.

Thanking you in advance,
WORRIED MOTHER.

Answer:

Any young man who would ask a single girl to accompany him on any overnight trip lacks in common respect for himself as well as the girl. It is true that we have a much more liberal attitude on social matters than previously, but society still does not condone this sort of conduct.

If the young man's intentions are honorable, he should be the first to guard against any taint in his courtship of your daughter. For their happiness and yours, I strongly urge that your daughter make it plain to this young man that she will keep company with him as long as he shows her due respect, and that he is not doing this by asking her to go on questionable week-end trips alone with him.

LOUISA.

Teachers To Strike If Salary Demands Not Met

The Alberta Teachers' Association at the annual general meeting held in Calgary last week endorsed strike action on part of member locals by setting up a special fund out of which payments will be made to strikers. The delegates passed with only two dissenting votes a resolution to set up a "special emergency" fund to provide striking teachers up to 75 per cent of salaries.

Eric C. Ansley stated that approximately $77,000 could be made available immediately for the fund and that the fund would be supplemented by contributions of $1 a week per teachers during the strike and for as long after as deemed necessary. This provision was made in one section of the resolution.

Earlier in the convention Hon. Ivan Casey, minister of education, stated that before teachers consider strike action they will have to decide whether they wish to retain professional status or whether they should be defined as a trade union. He stated that the time is approaching when the decision will have to be made as they cannot continue to enjoy the privileges of a profession, yet employ trade union methods.

He warned that if teacher disputes cannot be settled amicably the alternative would be the setting up of a provincial board exclusive of teachers and trustees, whose decisions would be binding.

A resolution seeking a minimum basic salary of $2000 was passed unanimously. Other resolutions requesting more teacher participation in curriculum planning and improved teacher qualifications and status were also passed. Steps were taken to revise the teachers' retirement fund along more solid long-term lines, a stipulation found essential before the provincial government would consider further increases to the fund. During the closing session Wednesday Miss Marian Gimby of Edmonton was re-elected president of the association by acclamation. Lars Olson, Holden, also received an acclamation as vice-president. Of the eight district representatives, four were elected by acclamation and four by ballot.

Acclamations went to Nicholas Poohkay, Hairy Hill; Kenneth Sparks, Sedgewick; W. Roy Eyres, Arrowwood and Edwin McKenzie, Medicine Hat.

Elected by ballot were W. D. McGrath, Dixonville; Frank Dewards, Edmonton; D. A. Prescott, Red Deer and Robert Kimmitt, Diamond City.

One day while getting dinner ready I heard the door slam. Thinking it was my brother, I yelled out, "Can't you be more careful when you slam the door?" I was very embarrassed when a stranger walked in.

MISS IRENE VOROS.
Hardisty, Alberta.

Meeting my cousin John for the first time in fifteen years, I thought I'd recognize him next time. A year later while I was in the city I happened to meet him and said, "Hi, John, how's the big boy?" With a strange look in his eyes, he said, "fine." I started asking questions and said, "Why that strange look in your eyes, aren't you my cousin, (naming his second name) ?" He replied, "I'm John alright, but not your cousin." Was I ever embarrassed?

Grassland Couple Married In Edmonton

EDMONTON—A wedding of general interest to the people of Grassland was recently solemnized at the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ Latter Day Saints in Edmonton on Saturday morning, April 5, at 9:00 a.m. The bride was Miss Doris Fleming, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Fleming, and the groom was the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Orval Jenkins, all of this district.

The bride was lovely in her white wedding gown with lace sleeves and yoke, trimmed with pearls, and a most beautiful veil and coronet. Her bouquet was composed of roses in pale shades of cream and pink. The groom wore a light grey gabardine suit.

The bridesmaid was Miss Dorothy Norris. She wore a very dainty nylon dress in palest mauve and her bouquet was of yellow daffodils.

Best man was Donald Jenkins, brother of the groom, who has been attending University of Saskatoon, where his uncle, Charles Jenkins, is a professor.

Minister was Mr. David Larmour.

Following the service the happy couple had their pictures taken, after which they drove over 100 miles to the brides parents at Grassland for the reception. Over fifty relatives and close friends had gathered to tender their gifts and best wishes.

The young couple then motored back to Edmonton for a short honeymoon. They will be at home to all their friends on their farm at Bon Accord.

Spring Seeding Of Forage Corps

In all but the driest sections of Alberta forage crops can usually be grown successfully with grain as a companion crop. In the dry areas, however, the use of a companion crop is not advisable. It competes with the forage crop for plant food and moisture and usually results in an unsatisfactory stand.

Forage crop seeding in the southern part of the province should be done not later than early May, says J. E. Birdsall, supervisor of crop improvement. This makes possible the use of spring moisture by the seedlings, and allows them to become established before the hot winds come. Forage crops should not be sown in land known to be infested with cut worms.

Farther north, where forage crops are more readily established, competition of the companion grain crop is not so serious. Early seeding is still desirable, but the date will depend to some extent on the condition of the land and the amount of cultivation required. If the soil is not too dry, seeding may be done any time up to June 15th.

Wherever you farm remember these rules, advises Mr. Birdsall:

(1) For strong stands and fewer weeds, use the best seeds you can get.

(2) Keep the seed in the sack unless there is enough moisture for fermentation.

(3) Seed shallowly in firm soil.

Senator MacKinnon Visiting In Rome

ROME — Senator James A. MacKinnon, former minister of mines and resources in the Canadian government, is spending Easter in Rome. The Alberta Liberal senator arrived here on a pleasure tour of Europe and plans to visit the Italian and French Rivieras and Spain before returning to Canada.
